LETTER FROM MRS. ROOSEVELT
T. H. Caskey received last week the following letter from the wife of the president of the United States:

THE WHITE HOUSE
Washington
Oct. 15, 1940

My Dear Mr. Caskey:
I have heard of your unfortunate experience in losing your voice, and I wish to send this little note of good wishes to you. I hope you will not become discouraged, and that it will not be long before you have fully recovered.

Very sincerely yours,
ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

THANK YOU
West Liberty, Ky., Oct. 18, 1940
To the People of Morgan County:

Congress recently passed the conscription law known as the draft, and the local boards having not been designated, Governor Johnson called on the county court clerks to carry out the registration on Oct. 16, 1940. I accepted and did the best I could.

I was forced to call on help of many of the citizens of the county. The members of the primary election boards were asked to help and they all did freely. Sheriff Lykins and his deputies saw that the notices were given out to these boards and the people in West Liberty freely volunteered their help and gave me all the assistance possible.

I wish to thank each and every one of you personally for the assistance rendered. Without your cooperation and help this would certainly have been a big job. I, like the rest of you, served as a patriotic duty not receiving any pay, in fact, I was out quite a little expense in carrying out this request.

Thanking you for the many past favors granted me and my late husband, I beg to remain,
Your friend and servant,
MRS. STELLA FANNIN

VOTE FOR J. BLAINE NICKELL
I am asking my many friends and relatives of Morgan county to vote for Blaine Nickell for Commonweal's Attorney. His mother was the oldest sister's child, and daughter of Dr. W. E. Gevedon. He is competent and well qualified for the office.

May I get many reports over the district that my many friends and kinsmen have voted for him. It will be a pleasure to hear of his election.

Respectfully,
B. F. McCURE, M.D.

TO THE TEACHERS OF MORGAN COUNTY

The election is not far off at which time there will be chosen three members of the Morgan county school board. The candidates in one district are Virgil Lewis and Clay Collins. In another district it is John Burns May and Volney McGuire. In the other district Willis Wells is elected without opposition. It is understood that Clay Collins and Volney McGuire are for Ova Haney to try to elect them regardless of what the way may be. They have already started out attempting to assess the teachers of the county and having them to pay out of the meager funds that they receive for teaching, from five to twenty-five dollars apiece, believing that they can buy this election. This practice of trying to elect the teachers into making up a campaign fund to corrupt the election is an absolute violation of the law and is condemned by the right thinking people. The man who is selected as superintendent of Morgan county should be a man who does not believe in and will not encourage this kind of practice. If the money they of this county were used for buying school equipment and repair school houses it would help to fulfill many broken promises in regard to the help that the country school districts have been promised and have not received.

It is my belief that the school teachers are not receiving as much money as they earn for the work that they have to do and the time and money it takes to prepare them to teach, and it is an absolute shame that what little they are supposed to get and what the tax payers of this county are paying out for them, that they should then be required to discount their claims in order to get their money and contribute campaign funds to try to de-bauch the voters.

I trust and believe that the teachers of this county have too much nerve and self-respect to allow themselves to be imposed upon in any such manner.

CARPENTER

Ralph Reed Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Carpenter of Neal Valley, was instantly killed when struck by a car near Morehead at about 10:15 p.m. Saturday. The driver of the car, a taxi, was arrested and placed in jail.

MR. KECK IN ERROR IN SPEAKING CAMPAIGN

I have been informed that John A. Keck in certain sections of the county has stated in his speeches that I am and have been against the WPA and other relief work done by the present administration, leaving the impression that I am opposed to helping people who are in distress, and to building school houses this way, as well as putting in water works with it.

He is mistaken and has been misinformed. I have always advised our people here to get all we could out of the money appropriated for these things. As evidence, I have helped work out the WPA building program here in which we got so much money for schools, and with other people here, assumed large obligations to do so, and when the water works program started, I have done a large part of the law work to get it going, and when the Government required the people of West Liberty to put up $8000 before the Government would loan the other $30,000, and put up an additional sum of about $60,000 for labor, and before Henry Rose died, my father, Harold Nickell and I subscribed $500 of the $8000, and we borrowed the money and paid it, and no family in West Liberty put up any more than that, and the putting up of the $8000 put the program over, and made it possible for us to give employment to scores of people in doing this work. We did it to get the water works and to give employment to our people so they could earn their bread. Yet I am charged with not responding to the needs of those who need help. I shall ask Mr. Keck how much he and his folk contributed to raise this money for government program in this county for relief? I did mine when no one thought of a vacancy in the Commonwealth's Attorney office. If he contributed anything at all, when did he do it with reference to the death of Mr. Rose? I would suggest that any charges by him or me against the other be fully investigated before we make them on the stump or through the press. Let's keep the campaign on a high and truthful scale. The people of West Liberty who know anything about what is going on, know what I have done in helping out these things and helping to get all to which we are entitled. I hate to have to put this article in the paper, but some irresponsible person has given Mr. Keck the wrong dope. I would not misrepresent him about anything in the campaign, and I don't want any of my friends to misrepresent Mr. Keck about anything, for when I am elected, I want to win with clean hands.

NOTES & COMMENTS

A campaign year turns loose an amazing amount of foolish talk.

There are individuals in the world unable to agree with themselves.

Statistics explain many things, but nobody can explain a statistician.

If we need a better place to live in, let's get busy with West Liberty.

Go-getters, as a rule, are often careless about what and how they get.

Japan, lining up with Germany and Italy, prefers a poor chance to none.

The trouble with most adults is that they think their school days have ended.

The best way to ascertain what ails the churches is to discover what ails the people.

Undoubtedly there are some clever radio commercial programs—they are the ones you miss.

It usually takes less than four years to demonstrate the foolishness of most campaign speeches.

A business man may be smart without advertising in the Courier, but he could be smarter.

The professions which have lost the respect of the people have forgotten how to serve the public.

Most citizens are ready to assist in any movement that gives them a salary without much work.

While Hitler said he would be in London by September 15, he did not definitely specify the year.

No community in the world ever made progress when it was dominated by a "tightwad" mentality.

A phrase, typically American and explaining many of our national difficulties: "The almighty dollar."

Pampered children who get everything they want develop into adults who want nothing that requires work.

The man who takes himself as a joke is accepted as a joke, and the man who takes himself too seriously is certainly a joke.

Adults who demand wise actions from young people will learn, when they get wisdom themselves, that it is not to be expected.

Fifty flying fortresses, dropping bombs nightly over Germany, might wipe out the idea that democracies are helpless and effete.

Germany made peace with her adversaries without benefit of advice from this country; if the British wish, they are entitled to the same privilege.

The rabid patriots who proclaim that the United States can whip the world probably do not suspect how close the nation came to having to prove the boast.

"Windy" Willie doesn't lie; he says so himself. And he promises, if elected, to stay out of war and whip Hitler to a frazzle; to lower taxes, increase expenditures, and balance the budget; to pay out more and spend less; and, in short, to make a new world. All this at the same time, or at the most, we suppose, within eight years, because of course Mr. Willie would never accept a third term?

THE WAR IN EUROPE

German strategy, suffering its first setback in its failure to invade Great Britain, now apparently includes four major efforts:

(1) The prolonged and indiscriminate bombing of Great Britain;

(2) Intensification of the submarine blockade;

(3) Advances in the Balkans, and Italian cooperation, designed to give British power and influence a knock-out blow in the entire near east; and

(4) Japanese activity in the far east, intended to frighten the United States, retard material aid to Great Britain, and also strike an exposed flank of the British empire.

The end of the German dream of a short war is evident in these tactics, and Hitler is trying his next best chance, seeking to augment the resources of the axis powers by capturing the supply that exists in the Balkans.

Faced with a long war, Germany admits inability to knock out the British, and attempts to set her economic house in order for the ordeal that is certain to come. If domination of Europe can make the axis a stable partnership, without dependence on the outside world, Hitler has a chance to consolidate his gains and play for a military standoff, regardless of what happens.

Italy has been unable to make much progress in her campaign against Egypt, and British warships, according to all reports, dominate the vital Mediterranean sea lines.

CHRISTIAN SERVICE GROUP
The Jr. Christian service group of the Methodist church met Wednesday night, Oct. 16, with Mrs. Myrtle Stafford. After the regular business session the officers for the coming year were installed: President, Mrs. Kenneth Clay; vice president, Mrs. Myrtle Stafford; secretary, Mrs. Vesta Lee Pelfrey; treasurer, Mrs. Dorothy Perry. Rev. Kenneth Clay had charge of the installation.

Refreshments of olive nut sandwiches, tea, cakes and potato chips were served to the following persons: Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Clay, Mrs. C. K. Stacy, Miss Helen C. Stacy, Mrs. Earl Pelfrey, Mrs. Mabel Perry, Mrs. A. P. Gullett, and Mrs. Stafford.

THE THIRD TERM ISSUE

Plainly for the purpose of diverting the attention of the American electorate from the vital issues of the present presidential campaign, Wendell Willkie and his Wall Street cohorts persist in their effort to prove that the question of a third term is the important question for voters in the coming elections.

Hiram Johnson, the senior senator from California, in a recent half-hour radio broadcast, paid for by the Republican national committee devoted his entire time to discussing the third term issue. Mr. Johnson is himself running for the fifth term as senator from his state. A presidential term is six years. A presidential term is four years.

If there were an honest to goodness way of dividing senators and congressmen in such a way as to put the statesmen among them in one class and the petty politicians in another class and if the senator had directed his remarks to this latter class, many American voters would be inclined to agree with him.

During about 150 years that we have existed as a nation the question of a third term has, up to the present presidential campaign, been under discussion on three distinct occasions.

The first was in considering the matter in the Constitutional convention. Politics, as we are acquainted with politics, had no part in the consideration of the subject. After much debate and careful consideration the presidential term of office was fixed at four years with no limit as to the number of times a president might be re-elected. George Washington, who is now often pointed out as establishing the precedent of a two term limit, counseled that no one could foresee what the future might bring and if the time ever came when a third term seemed best the people should not be deprived of the services of the best man to serve the nation.

For this reason those of us who claim "to be Christians should stop and take inventory of the richness of our religious experience; the constructiveness of our criticism; the influence of our attitude, and the Christlikeness of our conversation, actions, and deeds.

CAFETERIA SUPPER AND PARTY

"THE WAY I SEE IT"

By Rev. Kenneth Clay

One of the almost unbelievable absurdities is that some of those people who claim to be the most devout Christians are the ones who demand the greatest attention and coaxing to attend the services of the church. Such an accusation should never be true, for they are the ones who should be the first to attend the services of the church, and insist that the pastor find a place of service somewhere in the organization for them. Regardless of what kind of a profession they make, there is a defect in their religious experience whenever they assume such an attitude.

One of the most frequent accusations brought against certain members of every church is that they profess so much and live so little. Not only is this true, but they are the chronic trouble makers which disturb the peace and progress of that church. The peace of any church is directly proportionate to the harmonizing atmosphere of the Holy Spirit, and progress is dependent on the spiritual growth of the membership and conversion of sinners. Whenever these are lacking peace and progress cannot be expected.

One of the increasing evidences that a church is decaying because of this attitude is the sarcastic critical attitude being assumed by its membership. Even tho the majority group does not fall into this rut, a minority group assuming the role of a sarcastic critic is destructive no matter how you look at the problem. One such person will block the road for many a broken hearted sinner who is trying to make his way to the Cross. When once the poison arrow has been inflicted, only God knows the destructive influence which will be repaid in the coming years.

For this reason those of us who claim "to be Christians should stop and take inventory of the richness of our religious experience; the constructiveness of our criticism; the influence of our attitude, and the Christlikeness of our conversation, actions, and deeds.

SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM

On September 16, hot lunch projects were started in four different rural schools in the county. These schools are Malone, Sycamore Grove, Spaw Creek, and Maytown. The schools in which these lunches were to be served were required to have a minimum enrollment of 50 in a one-teacher school or 75 in a two-teacher school. After a survey was made with the above requirements in mind, the four schools mentioned were chosen.

In these four schools, 150 children are being served daily. Part of the equipment used to serve these children has been gotten through the efforts of the teachers and the parents in the communities. The cooks (two at each school) are furnished and paid by the WPA. Part of the food is also furnished by the WPA, and the remainder of the food is brought in by the children in exchange for their meals. Those who do not want to bring food in exchange for their meals are charged 5c. Children who do not wish to eat at school are not compelled to do so, but may bring their lunch from home. Below is a typical menu served at the projects:

Potatoes (mashed), beans, sliced tomatoes, bacon, hot chocolate, cornbread, rice-raisin pudding.

Excess foods brought in by the children have been canned and dried for winter use.

The children were weighed at the beginning of the lunch program and again at the end of the first month. The children who had been eating hot lunches were found to have gained from 3 to 5 pounds. Those who ate cold lunches were found to have fallen under the average gain of the children who ate the hot lunches. The parents of these communities feel that the projects are worthwhile.

Active Parent-Teacher associations are operating as part of the projects. The work of the parents has been helpful in making these projects a success. We are all working together to make these projects a success, so they may pave the way for similar projects in other communities in the future.
